InfoSec World 2021 Shifts to Digital Delivery

Flagship cybersecurity conference to be held November 9-10, 2021

New York, NY, September 14, 2021 – Cybersecurity business intelligence company CyberRisk Alliance (CRA) announced that the upcoming InfoSec World Conference will be shifted to an all-digital format, in consideration of persisting COVID-19 conditions in Florida.

“We have eagerly looked forward to returning InfoSec World to a live event, bigger and better than ever, however the recent COVID spike in Florida has caused us to reevaluate. Acting out of an abundance of caution for our attendees, sponsors, speakers, and staff, we have made the difficult decision to revise our plans and deliver the full program virtually,” said John DelMauro, EVP of Learning.

InfoSec World Digital will be produced November 9 – 10. All previously planned conference components will migrate to the digital format in their entirety, including keynote presentations, multi-session tracks, networking sessions, and a dynamic expo experience. In total, 75+ presentations will be available, covering cybersecurity’s most urgent priorities. Attendees can earn equivalent CPE credits in the virtual environment as they would in a live delivery. InfoSec World content will remain available to registered attendees through December 31 for on-demand viewing.

CRA is committed to delivering a unique and deeply engaging digital conference experience. Commented DelMauro, “Last year’s InfoSec World was highly successful, with record attendance and strong reviews from attendees, sponsors and speakers. We look forward to building on our recent success and delivering a world-class digital learning experience.”

With the shift to digital delivery, already registered attendees and sponsors will be contacted directly about transition plans. Further information about on programming, registration and sponsorship opportunities will be available at infosecworldusa.com.
